

Lincolnshire Police Role Players – 2006

Ryan McCartney and Jonathan Kemp (Psychology students) assisted police cadets by engaging in role plays outside Morrison's, Tritton Road in October. The volunteers were involved in two role plays. Report of a street robbery and report of a youth with an offensive weapon. In the scenario 'report of a street robbery' one of the volunteers doing the role play was supplied with a real knife as part of the acting. John Horton the Community Engagement Co-ordinator at West Parade Police Station advised the role plays are not dangerous and students do not need any experience. But he confirmed that the students need to be confident to take part. If you are interested in finding out more about this volunteering opportunity, please contact the Community Volunteers.

There is one in November which we have made clear to the police that we are very keen to do. They tell us next time we could be doing some more 'physical' stuff like being handcuffed.”* (Jonathan Kemp).
